Why sponsor TEDxPittsburgh?

TEDxPittsburgh is a unique opportunity to partner with an organization affiliated with a global brand, TED, but also has an independent and locally organized flavor. Our audience members (both in-person and online) are bold doers and critical thinkers, curious about new ways to look at the world. It's an opportunity to support, and be associated with, innovation and ideas worth spreading. We value the time and resources of every partner and look forward to working with you in a way that meets your needs. Our talks have appeared on CBS, NPR and in the New York Times, HuffPost, and TED.com.

This is our first event since 2019 so we expect considerable attention, additionally the hybrid online-heavy nature positions this event well to withstand pandemic pressures.
